State's Attorney Dorsey said today that the reply he had received from Prohibition Administrator Herbert did not answer the question as to whether Brewer had been participating in raids, and he announced that he would ask him for a "yes" or "no" answer.

Herbert's reply to Dorsey's letter, as made public here, is as follows:

"I received today a letter over your signature that opened: "I am reliably informed—" have acted in other circumstances relating to J. Randolph Brewer."

Dorsey declared tonight that he had found two men who would swear out affidavits that they had seen Brewer in company with a party of prohibition agents bound for a series of raids.

Dorsey's letter to Herbert follows:
"I am reliably informed that Mr. J.
Randolph Brewer, Federal prohibition agent, who is supposed to be suspended from actual duty pending his trial on his indictment for first degree murder, has participated in an official capacity in several raids in this county during the past two weeks, accompanied by other members of the prohibition force.

CURLEY ORDERS PRIESTS NOT TO ATTEND DANCES

Must Not Take Any Part in Organizing Affairs, Says Archbishop's Ruling.

The advisory board of the Salvation Army yesterday in the Social Service Building, 102 B street northwest, approved plans for an eight-story building at 119 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, to replace the Reliance Hotel. The new building is expected to cost 8350,000 and a drive to raise this money will be held in January. Most of the activities of the army in Washington will be centered in the building, it was stated. Capt. Ernest R. Holz, divisional commander of the army, said such a building would reduce the expenses of the organization. LAITY IS NOT AFFECTED

Baltimore, Oct. 31.-Roman Catholic priests of the Archdiocese of Baltimore may no longer attend or take part in the organization of dances under an order of Archbishop Michael J. Curley, it was learned today.

The Baltimore Catholic Review has barred advertisements of dances from its columns. The Very Rev. Albert E. Smith is the editor. Announcement of the order will be made by Archbishop Curley in the Review. It was explained that it will apply to priests only, and not to the laity.

The car was seen late Sunday afternoon.

ingin-powered sedan bearing New York license tags. The car was seen late Sunday afternoon.

Entrance to the store was gained by forcing a rear door leading from the alley in which the car was seen. The thieves made no attempt to open the safe. Their loot was an exhibit displayed by the Rosenberg Fur Co., if New York. Sheriff William C. Roderick, who, with four deputies, is investigating the robbery, declared he believes the robbery to be the work of an organized band which traced the shipment from New York.

The robbery is the largest in the police records of Frederick, the loot consisting of 23 fur coats, scores of neckpieces and 30 silk dresses.

TIME LIMIT SOON OVER

Denver, Colo., Oct. 31 (A.P.).—Colorado's coal strike neared its zero hour tonight with the I. W. W. leaders of the walkout apparently divided on the policy of continuing picketing at the mines in defiance of warnings from the State and the threat of military rule. Half of the 30 hours' grace granted by Gov. W. H. be discontinued had passed tonight and the appearance of National Guardsmen into the situation appeared imminent. Conflicting views on the picketing question were expressed by Byron Kitto, publicity agent for the I. W. W., and Roger Francezon, leader of the I. W. W. organization in the United States. Kitto, who was arrested today for picketing, declared that pickets would be maintained at any cost; Francezon in an address to miners at Walsenburg asked that picketing cease.

Francezon's views were upheld by a group of strikers, meeting at Walsenburg asked that picketing cease.

Francezon's views were upheld by a group of strikers, meeting at Walsenburg area, however, were not present at the meeting and it was uncertain tonight whether the vote would be observed.

Kitto's arrest occurred while he was leading a demonstration at the Tobasco mine of the Colorado Fuel & Iron. Co. at Tobasco. He had previously voiced the view that the "constitutional rights of free speech" could not be set aside and that attempts to prevail upon miners to quit work would continue "regardless of the picketing laws of Colorado."

There may be years when there would be some loss. But any such loss could be paid out of the reserve built up in years of profitable operations.

"The long-time aim of this plan, beyond that of minimizing price fluctuations, is to build large-scale, farmerowned business institutions handling the major farm commodities. Future prosperity in farming depends to a large degree on the growth of strong business institutions to afford agriculture a bargaining powe: comparable to business institutions to alroad agricul-ture a bargaining powe, comparable to that of labor and industry and to give the farmer a consciousness of business power, a sense of majesty over his af-fairs, and a better voice in matters of economic policy."

Uses Cotton as Illustration.

Illustrating how the plan would have worked last year in cotton, Jardine said approximately 10,980,000 bales of the ord cotton crop of 18,000,000 bales were marketed from October to January at an average price of slightly died in a hospital at Clifton Springs, less than 11 cents a pound. A large number of farmers had to sell at that time and price to meet demands of

Lowden campaign manager in the State. follows:

"Economic justice for the Northwest will be the major issue in the coming presidential campaign. The States affected must make a common cause, and support a candidate for President who is friendly to our paramount need. But this is not sufficient. We must give our support to some candidate who has a chance of winning.

"The logic of the situation points to former Gov. Lowden. Among the leaders now generally considered as candidates for President, he has developed into the foremost champion of the cause of agricultural equality. I am for him. He is strong in this and other Northwestern States.

"Our position must not promote discord. It should be so taken that it will bend to assure the greatest possible harmony among our sister States. If we hold together we will be a strong force in the next national convention, and will not be ignored." of the Potomac, G. A. R.

g no claims to being a total ab-r. It was also during his gov-hip that he allowed a bill creatlasued today claims the State for him by 40,000. Sampson's managers point out that many times Kentucky has been in the Republican column, and insist that not only will their candidate poil the full Republican vote, but that there will be a wholesale defection from Beckham on the part of organized labor, disgruntled Democrats, including the State administration, and the great mass of stock breeders. Sampson has not declared himself definitely on the question of the repeal of the parimutual law, but has advocated good roads, free textbooks in the schools and the industrial development of the State. His managers minimize the assertion that Beckham has captured the larger part of the religious element in the State and claim that Sampson is coming down the home stretch in this final week several lengths ahead of his opponent. making no claims to being a total abstainer. It was also during his governorship that he allowed a bill creating a racing commission to become a law and thus give force and effect to another law which had previously been enacted legalising betting on the parimutuel system. Now, however, he pledges himself to the repeal of this betting law and as the antagonit of both liquor and betting has appealed to the voters for their support.

Will Kentucky, a Sitete famous for its old Bourbon and for its race horses, elect a man whose platform is so much at variance with its history?

His friends say that he will carry the State by at least 30,000 or 40,000 majority, crediting him with nine congressional districts and granting to the Republican candidate only the two districts up in the mountains, which are always solidly Republican. They base this claim not alone on the fact that Kentucky is normally a Democratic. State, but upon the religit ur fervor which has been created in the rural communities. 'hey do not expect him to come through with flying colors' 'a cittles like Louisville, Covirgton, Newport and Lexington, but they point to the fact that in all of his meetings women have comprised 50 per cent of the audience. They assert that no less than 19,000 precinct committeevemen are yorganized and working for Beckham, and they claim, also, that practically devery one of the 3,000 preachers in the State will vote for him.

Stresses Economy Record.

While it is true that Beckham is also emphasizing his economical and efficient administration as governor in orace track betting, and especially the political activities of the Jockey Club. On the question of repealing the parimutual law Beckham has burned his birdges behind him, and if he is elected betting on the horse races will have sung its swan song in Kentucky.

At the headquarters of Sampson, on the other hand, the utmost optimism prevalls, and a formal announcement of the continuance of race track betting, and especially the political activities of the Jockey Club. O

MR. MELLON'S STATEMENT.

Secretary Mellon yesterday submitted what may be termed the nonpolitical view of tax reduction to the ways and means committee. The head of the Treasury not only suggested a moderate reduction but recommended that no change be made in the schedules that affect the greatest number of persons. Congress, confronted with the same set of facts, has been engaged in a search for a solution designed to cut as much as possible from the taxes paid by the greatest number, with the view, in both parties, of making political capital for the 1928 presidential campaign.

Mellon believes that tax reduction "should not in any event be in excess of approximately $225,000,000." The most conservative Republican estimates have not been below $300,000,000, and the Democrats, who suspect the Treasury of purposely underestimating the possible surplus, have insisted that the relief granted the taxpayers must total $500,000,000. Even less appealing to the political mind will be the Treasury's opposition to any change in the automobile, tobacco and amusement taxes. Mr. Mellon believes that this source of revenue should be retained because it provides equitable distribution of the tax burden upon the greatest number of persons, and Congress, because of the numbers involved, has given every indication of wanting to reduce or eliminate these schedules.

The greatest partisan clamor is likely to arise, however, over the nature of the five classes to which Secretary Mellon would make reductions applicable. There is hardly a votecatching medium in the lot, for even in suggesting that relief be granted to corporate incomes the head of the Treasury recommended a reduction of only 11/2 per cent, which is a good deal less than the business interests of the country are demanding.

Secretary Mellon's defense for the retention of automobile, admission and tobacco taxes was designed evidently to meet strong opposition. He insisted that an industry which benefited from the $75,000,000 that the Government planned to spend annually on good roads could not complain of a $66,000,000 tax burden. More cogent still was the point that such taxes once removed could not be reimposed in time of peace, and that the need for additional revenue in the future could be met only by increasing the income schedule, which as Secretary Mellon pointed out, has already become a class tax, with neither as broad a base nor as low rates as the excise tax.

Other attacks upon the Treasury program will center, no doubt, around the fact that in the two years just past forecasts and actualities with respect to the surplus failed to agree. Mr. Mellon renewed in his statement the explanation, heretofore given, that nonrecurring Items, growing in part out of war conditions, were largely responsible. He predicted that such sums would decrease materially this year next and that for the fiscal year 1929 the total surplus will be $274,000,000, provided the Treasury's optimism in estimating current revenues at a steady rate for the next two years will be justified. Mr. Mellon said:

For a number of years past the Treasury estimates have underestimated the revenue which was later realized. It is not true, however, that this was the result of deliberate intention or policy. Every fort to avoid a repetition of this result been made in the preparation of the estimates here presented. It would be unwarranted and unwise to assume that in the present estimates there is any con cealed surplus. In these figures the Treasury has not consciously nor as a matter of policy played safe. If tax reductions are made or appropriations voted on the assumption that the present figures understate probable future resipts, responsibility for such reductions appropriations must be assumed by those who advocate them. There is food for thought in Mr. Mellon's statement. Tax reduction is greatly to be desired, but not unless it is sanely and soundly designed. There is at the present time, except for the inequalities for which the Treasury has suggested remedies, an equitable distribution of the tax burden. A revision with naught but political expediency in view would be a serious mistake, and a costly one upon those who would have to bear the future burden.

A BILLION DOLLAR CITY.

More than 20 years ago "Tom" Reed, defending the appropriations of $1,000,000,000 in two sessions of Congress, remarked: "This is a billion dollar country." The fact that $500,000,000 was found to be necessary to maintain the Government for a year caused the Jeremiahs in the House to see ahead the time when the United States would be driven to the "demnition bow wows" by wild ex-

Now comes the announcement that the board of estimate of the City of New York will present for the edification of Father Knickerbocker a budget of $512,528,831.49 for the 1928. That this tax on the xceeding as it does the aptire deral administration at the time ade his comment, was to have dayer Walker, who said that while not enirely satisfactory it is "at least the nearest ch to a 100 per cent honest budget that

That the total cost of operating the City of New York during the next two years will exceed the billion-dollar mark is evident. But the budget as presented by the board of estimate does not fully represent the entire expense of operations. There is a proposed amendment to the State constitution, upon which the people will vote next week, which authorizes New York City to exceed the present limit of indebtedness by many millions. The adoption of this amendment, and its chances are bright. will permit the sale of $500,000,000 worth of onds, the proceeds of which will be used in extending the city's subways. While this fund may last several years, making it available will serve to increase the annual expenditures in New York, and it is a foregone conclusion that the cost of running the big city will soon reach $1,000,000,000 annually.

"Tom" Reed saw clearly and boldly, but he did not see far enough.

PROPOSED TRACTION MERGER.

Merger of local public service transportation agencies has been held desirable for some time. Several attempts have been made to effect or force combinations, but they have always failed. The principal stumblingblock has been the matter of valuation and capitalization. A workable merger plan would have to offer a solution for this problem other than any that has been suggested before. Fixing of the capitalization figure is the crux of the consolidation problem.

The Harley P. Wilson merger plan, originated by the owner of the Washington Rapid Transit Co., offers a unique method of fixing the capitalization figure. The courts have adjudicated the value of the Capital Traction properties for rate-making purposes at $25, 800,000, and although the Washington Railway & Electric Co. case is still pending, the principles governing the Capital Traction valuation, applied to the W. R. & E. property, would give it, it is claimed, a value of some $37,000,000. The base value of the properties involved, therefore, would amount to between $62,500,000 and $65,000,000. If the consolidated company were granted a return of 7 per cent on this valuation, it would impose a higher charge upon patrons than present conditions

In fixing the capitalization figure under the Wilson plan, the new company would be allowed $2,700,000 new capital, of which $1,-200,000 would be used for making track adjustments and rearranging facilities, $500,000 for working capital, and $1,000,000 for a fare adjustment fund. To establish a rate base, earnings of the transit properties of the two street railway companies for a typical year would be taken, to which would be added the savings in operation costs resulting from the merger, and taking into consideration the immunity from street paving and special crossing policeman charges, the resulting figure-$3,-500.000-would be capitalized at 7 per cent. This would give a rate base of $50,000,000, to which would be added the additional capital of $2,700,000, making an aggregate rate base of $52,700,000. On this basis the owners would be entitled to an annual return of $3,689,000.

The plan provides further that only the three transportation companies be merged. the Potomac Electric Power Co. continuing as separate corporation since it is engaged in a separate line of business. Supervision, regulation and direction of the consolidated corporation would be vested in three trustees to be appointed by the District Commissioners. and this body would have the power to determine the character, extent and cost of the service to be furnished, to regulate and fix the rate of fare so as to pay actual operating costs plus a fair return to the owners of the company, and to direct the removal or rearrangement of tracks to meet transportation needs.

Mr. Wilson has originated a comprehensive plan, probably the most complete that has been produced thus far. It is worthy of serious consideration. Little mention is made of the position of the Washington Rapid Transit Co., or what effect its earnings, when added to those of the street railways, would have upon the fixation of the base value capitalization figure. This, however, may come under the head of "other details," which Mr. Wilson says are yet to be made public. In public hearings upon this plan its bearings will be thoroughly threshed out.

AMERICANS AS INVESTORS.

Retirement of the Second Liberty Loan bonds this month has brought out some amazing statistics of the growth during the last decade of the financial consciousness of the Nation. Before the Government drove home the necessity of public investment in national securities as one means of winning the war the security-minded portion of the population was almost negligible. In the ten years that have elapsed, gains have been registered in financial operations of every sort that would seem incredible, if they were not authenticated.

Bank deposits have increased more than $5,000,000,000 in a decade. Banking resources have shown a gain that exceeds $27,000,000,-000. There are today 13,000,000 more individuals who are stockholders than was the case in 1917, and bond offerings so far this year surpass by $5,000,000,000 the offerings of nongovernmental character floated ten years ago. The figures of the New York Stock Exchange, savings bank totals and depositors gold holdings and customer-owners of public utilities have mushroomed to new heights in an interval that hardly seems long enough to permit of a growth of one-half such propor-

That the long-continued era of prosperity has played some part is undoubtedly true, but much of the change is due to the new public attitude toward finance and business. The United States, even before the war, was not a nation whose citizens made a practice of hoarding money. Such quantities of capital as are now available could not have been withheld from circulation. It is evident, however, that it did not flow as readily into the changels of trade and commerce as is now the case. movement of money was more restricted, and in consequence industry and finance lacked the resources they now possess. Millions of persons were taught during the war th dinated use of small amounts of accomplish great things. discovered that it co

CROWDED PRISONS.

A report from the Department of Justice appears to call for prompt attention from the commission having to do with the housing of the institutions of the Federal Government. That report shows within the last ten years the population the United States increased less than 20 per cent, while during the same period, the number of involuntary guests of the Nation, quartered in penitentiaries and similar institutions, increased 110 per cent.

The number of prisoners thus entertained who were confined for violation of the postal, interstate commerce and revenue laws decreased materially during the decade. But the falling off in these three classes, which totaled only 486 in 1927, as compared with 1,246 in 1919, was more than made up by the number who violated the narcotic law. In 1919 the number of such offenders was 299. This year 2.116 violators of the narcotic laws are con fined in prisons.

Far more is heard of the contempt of a large class of citizens for the prohibition law than is heard about those who deal in cocaine, heroin and similar narcotics, and the natural inference is that the penitentiaries are populated by a greater number of violators of the Volstead act than of drug peddlers. The Volstead act was not in force in 1919, so that comparisons with that year are not possible. But in 1927 the number of prisoners serving terms for violation of the prohibition law

Another act that has been placed on the statute books since 1919 extends Federal juris-diction over those charged with stealing automobiles, when such stolen property is taken across the border line of a State. That law is known as the motor vehicle theft act, and 789 persons are now serving terms in prison for violating it.

If the number of convicted violators of Federal laws-white slave, narcotic, auto theft and prohibition-continues at the present rate the building trades should greatly benefit by the demand for construction of new peniten-

NEW SEA HEROES.

Tales of horror and of heroism have been told by survivors of the wrecked Principessa Mafalda. Sailing quietly along last Tuesday afternoon, under cloudless skies and with a gentle breeze sweeping her decks, a shock suddenly went through the vessel, and almost Immediately her captain realized that she was doomed. Some 300 passengers were drowned. Through all the horror, according to reliable stories, the captain stood at his post calmly directing the work of rescue. He went down with his ship, sucked relentlessly toward the bottom of the sea in a gigantic whirlpool.

His first act, when he realized that disaster was at hand, was to summon the radio operator and order the transmission of the signal of distress-S O S. Four other radio operators picked up the call, and their ships hastened to the rescue. The Mafalda's operator, like his captain, is reported to have stuck to his post and gone down with the ship.

In every disaster of the sea the heroism of radio operators is demonstrated. Theirs is no easy job, for their tour of duty extends through the entire 24 hours. Waking or sleeping, they are on hand. If the ship does not carry a relief operator, "Sparks," as he usually is called, rigs up a loud speaker near his bunk, so that should a call come in while he is lost in slumber it would awaken him, Mere boys, these radio operators, whose reward lies in adventure and service rather than in handsome salaries. No emergency has arisen on the seas in which they have not been on hand to send or receive the cry of distress.

Men of the sea are heroic and self-sacrificing. The radio operator, newest to join their fraternity, has demonstrated his right to membership therein.

THE RADIO PROBLEM.

The squeals, howls and distortion in the reception of radio programs have not been appreciably lessened by the Federal Radio Commission. Its members realize this, and it is generally admitted that additional drastic revision of the broadcasting structure will have to be undertaken. Given time enough, a radio millennium may be brought about; but the impossibility of foretelling what Congress will do with the commission, the life of which as an administrative body, unless the law is changed, expires late next winter, enters into the situation. Whether the commission is to be granted an additional period of authority, or whether control shall pass into the hands of the Secretary of Commerce, is not yet known.

Much interest is aroused in the announce ment by Maj. Gen. George O. Squier, retired, former chief signal officer of the Army, that he has invented a system of program reception designed to replace the radio receiving set. Gen. Squier plans to utilize telephone or electric power wires upon which to transmit radio programs. This can be done without affecting the other uses to which the circuit is put, by the use of a simple device known as the monophone. The system obviates entirely static or interference, and requires no adjustment by

There is a demand for undistorted program reception. Yet there are certain attributes of the radio receiver which users will not give up quickly. There is the thrill of receiving distant stations. There is novelty in the fact that music is picked out of the air. The average individual is willing to put up with some interference in return for these advantages. Gen. Squier's monophone would have neither. attribute, nor would its user be able-to choose from a wide variety of programs.

If the Government through the Radio Commission or the Secretary of Commerce does not succeed in doing away with interference, the demand for the monophone, or similar device, undoubtedly will become great. If the ether can be measurably cleared, however, it is probable that the interest in radio will be continued

Class Vaccination

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I desire to call your attention to a rather extraordinary piece of discrimi which is being practiced by the United States Government upon its own citizens returning from Europe.

It appears that regulations drawn up by the Public Health Service, Labor De partment, and perhaps other branches of our Government, require that all second-class passengers boarding ships in Italian ports bound for the United States must previously be vaccinated. But it also appears that first-class pas sengers are exempt from vaccination. Upon what principle of public health been drawn I can not conceive. It is asly very easy for persons who do not wish to be vaccinated to travel first class, and if there is any validity in the assumptions on which the whole practice rests, it might be precisely these sengers traveling first class who would be mostly in need of vaccination. which still purport to In countries recognize class distinctions and to attach virtue and merits to particular classes, one might not be astonished to find the discrimination of this sort written into official regulations, but it is most uncalled for, offensive and mischievous in the case of countries which profess to make no official distinction on the basis of social and similar considerations.

Isn't it possible for The Post to take this matter up sufficiently vigorously to have it corrected? Let vaccination be applied uniformly throughout all classes, or confined to indicated cases requiring such treatment. At all events, a satisfac orv explana N. DE CARLO.

The West Seeks Control.

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: Is to be a battle royal between the West and the East to control the Republican convention in 1928? The movement to place Senator Norris in the running is most significant. For a quarter of a the East dominated in controlling the the great growing West. The cry first was against "Big Business." The East is the source of financial strength in the Nation. It controls the "Big Business" of the whole country. If crons are to be moved, the East furnished the money; if a market has to be found for the overproduction of the factories money of the East is expected to find it; if new transportation lines are to be opened, again it is the money of the East that paves the way.

The Western States are growing in population much more rapidly than President Coolidge had sent for him those in the East, while the money capital of the East increases much faster than does that of the West. This feeling that the East sacrifices the West may be a false feeling, but it is steadily and rapidly growing, and as it grows it deepens into conviction. The ballots have established that the Republican party is the ruling party, and the Norris movement has for its object the control of that party.

The split of 1912 was simply a volintments. The La Follette drive disappointments. It is not likely they will bolt and run a third ticket if they fail. They will, in all probability, remain in the party, looking for success in 1932. If they

Enough Exercise

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE proper study of mankind is the jungle. If you would learn what matches and lets it go at that. I is best for man, observe what Nature planned for him. Modern man, inclosed by four walls and chained to an indoor job realizes that he is shortening his days. He needs exercise, and he knows it; but when he asks for guidance he receives so much conflicting advice one Dr. Sime hat he is afraid to accept any of it lest he make bad matters worse. Well, let him ask advice of Nature and learn the truth.

Why does Nature prompt all animals to play while they are young, nd take away the desire to play as they reach maturity?

The answer is obvious. The young need exercise-vigorous exercise and much of it: for they get their food without effort, and effort is required to develop their bodies.

The mature need not play, for the business of getting food gives them all the exercise they need to keep their bodies fit.

That is the whole story. The cattle walk much while taking food, and run at times to escape enemies; the creatures that live on flesh walk much in quest of prey, Florida to New York, billed as crockery, at times run down their victims, and at times must struggle desperately o finish their kill or to defend themselves from other meat eaters.

Primitive man-that is, natural man-got exercise enough. He had trees to climb; he stalked his meat for hours; he ran to save his skin; he bent his back to gather food from the ground. And thus the grim business of getting a living gave him the exercise he needed.

The modern, who gets his living sitting at a desk, may learn from primitive man just how much exercise he needs. He needs to exert enough to attain property ought to himself in the open air as much as he would need to exert himself in quest of food if he were a primitive-just that and no more.

Is it enough to spend five minutes each morning monkeying with a patent exerciser in a stuffy bedroom? Well, when Nature planned the schedule of exercises, did she arrange for man to get his food that easily able, to be sure, but if it is clarified -and did she plan for him to get it in a little room filled with stale air? so that anybody except the higher

The is no doubt that Mme. Schumann Heink is leaving the concert stage in her artistic prime. She proved this last night in her magnificent rendition of the "Brindiss" from Lucretia Borgia of Donizetti, always a test for a contraito. The voice still has its old resonance, warmth and pliant expressiveness, a marvellous voice for a woman who has been singing professionally for more than 50 years.

A high spot in her first group was La Forge's "Before the Crucifix," which gave opportunity for emotional play of tones. She was ably assisted by Florence Hardeman, a violinist, who received several ovations on her own

Is Liberal With Encores in Response to Enthusiasm Inspired by Artist.

Mme. Schumann-Heink gave her farewell concert at the Auditorium last night, At the close of her formal program she was called before the foot lights again and again and many pressed forward to clasp her hands and wish her Godspeed.

In a little speech Mme. Schumann-Heink bade farewell to Washington, where she first sang 25 years ago, and she spoke of her love for the soldiers and sailors of America. "I want myepitaph to be" she exclaimed in her quaint English "She was good to the doughboys."

Mme. Schumann-Heink then outlined some of her plans for the future and said that while this was really a farewell concert, that she was not giving up music but would devote many hours to the training of ambitious girls with promising voices and in her work in the soldier's camps.

Finally, after she greeted the hundreds who clamored to speak to her personally, the lights were dimmed on the stage and the National Capital had said its au revoir to this grand woman of American song, forever the artist and forever ydung, despite the fact that they years are nearing the Biblical three score and ten. pluses were estimated at $455,000,000 and $274,000,000 respectively.

Discussing the extraordinary items of revenue, the statement said that while $169,000,000 will be received from the railroad loans in the current fiscal year, only $24,000,000 will be received in 1929 and after that little or no revenue is expected as only $49,000,000 will be left of the railroad lolgations to the Government, which stood at $230,-000,000 at compared with those for the current fiscal year, it was estimated, and this figure coupled with the reduction in the item of railroad loans for the difference in the estimated surpluses for 1928 and 1929, it was explained.

Can't Predict Back Tax Payments.

Can't Predict Back Tax Payments.

Can't Predict Back Tax Payments.

Defending its course in not heretofore taking into greater account the extraordinary items of revenue, the Treasury spokesman declared that it was virtually impossible to predict the amount from the payment of back taxes. There is no basis for prediction available Mills declared.

Figures were cited to show that the Treasury had always been reasonably close in its estimates of normal revenues. Had the back-tax collections not been so high, the surplus for the fiscal year 1927 would have actually been $25,000,000 less than the estimate. In this estimate it was foreseen that back taxes would total $250,000,000, whereas tikey did total $250,000,000 more.

The surplus for 1927, it was recalled, exceeded the estimate by $252,000,000. Of this, $150,000,000 was reflected in decreased expenditures, while the remaining $102,000,000 increase over the estimated back-tax collections and $67,000,000 from an increase in the estimated receipts from railroads on account of the realization of capital assets. This year, for the first time, the Treasury has segregated revenues from normal sources and those from extraordinary sources.

Falling Off Expected.

Treasury has segregated revenues from normal sources and those from extraordinary sources.

Falling Off Expected.

"After the close of the fiscal year 1929." the statement said, "with the closing of all of the cases arising under the excess profits and other war taxes it is reasonably certain that there will be a falling off in back-tax collections."

Despite the detailed defense of its past estimates, Garner cited the estimates and actual surpluses for the last four years and asked Mills:
"In view of the fact that for four years and asked Mills:
"In view of the fact that for four years and seven lower.

The Treasury and Budget are so inclined in the color of the corporation taxes with the observation that while it was not the President's intention to underestimate, that his Treasury and Budget are so inefficient, so inaccurate, and Congress can decrease taxes more than recommended?

Mellon interrupted to say: "We tried to explain how it came about."

The Treasury damission taxes with the observation that surely those who paid $40 to see the Dempsey-Tunney light would not object to contributing $3.64 to the Government, and that there should be no complaint to the apment of 60 cents for a $6 world series baseball ticket. This is a prolific fruit of revenue, too, the Dempsey-Tunney fight yielding $24.2065.71.

Exemption of bankers' acceptances was urged on the ground that it is taking money from American markets to site of Mississippl, sought to develop that the lowered corporate levy would that a greater reduction could be made than recommended. Mills said there was no way of telling just how much that while it was no way of telling just how much that the favored the reduction of corporation levies was a money of the corporation tax, but the only issue in the committee on this abpeared the desire on the part of the Democrats and some of the Republicans to make it even lower.

Proposed Cut in Incomes.

Discussing the sufraxes, the Treasury statement pointed out that under the act of 1926 incomes from $14,000 to $ biscussing the surtaxes, the Treasury statement pointed out that under the act of 1926 incomes from $14,000 to $24,000 are graded by steps of $2,000, and the levy being increased 1 per cent for every $2,000. From $24,000 to $64,000 the grading is by steps of $4,000 the grading is by steps of $4,000 the grading is by steps of $4,000 to $64,000 the grading is by steps of $4,000 to $60,000. The states will be granted to all surtax payers, but more particularly to those whose incomes fall in the intermediate brackets."

A 10 per cent rate now applies, for example, to incomes ranging from $36,000 to $40,000, whereas under the proposed change the 10 per cent rate on $66,000 to $60,000. The 15 per cent rate instead of being reached at $56,000, would be reached at $66,000, whereas under the proposed change the 10 per cent rate at $80,000, instead of $70,000, and the 19 per cent rate at $80,000, instead of $89,000.

"By tradition, legal theory and revenue necessity," the estate tax belongs to the States, the Treasury statement declared, and the loss from revenue by its repeal will be "insignificant:" Mr. Bacharach wanted to know if it would not be advisable to keep it a few years and effect a further reduction in the corporation tax, but Mills pointed out that the revenue from the estate tax is not sufficient to offset the loss from a greater corporation tax reduction.

Arguing against reduction of the automobile tax, the statement said:

A "CO-ED" writes a rather forceful letter demanding to know why any one as young as the writer of this column should dare question the opinion of a man as wise as Judge Ben Lindsey, and oppose his advocacy of a new type of marriage for children under age.

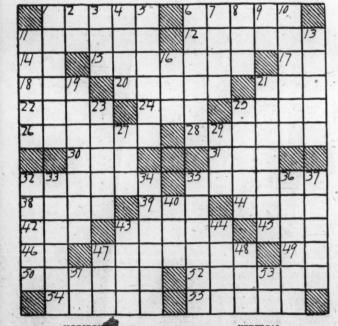

"Co-ed" believes it conceited to disagree with any one older or wiser than one's self apparently. But knowing Judge Lindsey I feel sure he would consider me weak indeed if I hesitated to answer truthfully a question asked me in this column—or stretched the answer to fit any opinion.

In many ways Judge Lindsey has proved his wisdom and his worth, his deep humanity and abounding charity But in advocating the universal acceptance of the necessity of temporary marriages for minor children to safeguard morals I feel he has erred—as any mortal may.

Young people who are normal, who are given sufficient interests, kept occupied, properly supervised and properly mothered, do not need any marital experiences to ride them over school age, and such experience is bound to form undreamed of complications, mental moral and spiritual.

If no further or deeper consideration—how provide assurance that both of the two young hearts involved will desire separation—when one desires it? Is that not sufficient cause for hesitat-

POSTMISTRESS SHOT; ROBBER GETS MONEY

Assailant at Cismont Escapes With Cash Drawer After Firing.

Special to The Washington Post.
Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 31.—The Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 31.—The store and postoffice of E. D. Mustard, merchant and farmer, at Cismont, this county, was robbed this morning and the postmistress, Mrs. Stella Mustard, was shot and probably fatally wounded. A white man, in overalls, entered the store at 10:30 o'clock and made several purchases, including some shells. As the postmistress turned to wrap the package the man unwrapped a shot-gun, which he had held under his arm, and fired. Part of the load struck Mrs. Mustard in the side of the face and she fell.

The man then leaped over the counter, grabbed the money drawer and fied.

Regaining consciousness, Mrs. Mustard, leeding profusely, made her way to the porch of the building and gave the alarm. She was brought here to the University Hospital.

A pose of citizens was formed and search for the robber was started. At 6 o'clock this afternoon two blood-hounds arrived from Staunton and were put on the trail.

But there are some richer and more pretentious families who patronize me a good deal and are always sending me presents; sometimes I feel I must refuse. You might do well to write to this young woman, and say that you are overcome with the magnificence of her present, but must ask her permission to set the candle-sticks on the altar where they will show the beauty of her generosity in a heavenly, rather than an earthly, house. Something like that might do, though I am not especially in love with my own suggestion. The idea that you were simply the channel through which offerings flowed to the church, ought to penetrate the minds of the pretentious after a time.

Anything sent in affectionate good faith by kindly people I'd keep. It gives many gentle and generous souls such pleasure to help a young man on a diffficult way, especially when he is, as you say, their servant in religion. But anything in the way of gifts, that can be turned to the good of the parish or its people, I would so turn—always furting a tactful explanation and showing grattude.

O. Case.

(Assoclated Press.)

A rule of conduct for automobilists and others who cross rallroad tracks was laid down yesterday by the Supreme Court in a case appealed by the Baltimore & Ohio Rallroad.

In setting aside a judgment in favor of the estate of Nathan Goodman, killed at Whitfield, Ohio, the court, through Justice Holmes, declared that "when a man goes upon a railroad track he knows that he goes to a place where he will be killed if a train comes upon him before he is clear of the track. He knows that he goes to a place where he will be killed if a train comes upon him before he is clear of the track. Of course, if Mr. Roberts seeks to prove the contents of a written paper, he must observe the rules of evidence which are required. Now, I do not wish to have it understood for a moment that Senator Thomas, who, as I understood from his testimony thus far, was there as the legal representative of the prospective vendor—

Mr. Roberts (interposing)—That is right.

The Court (continuing)—That any assumption that he may have indulged in, no matter how, from his own point of view, he may have been warranted in indulging that in making certain drafts—of course, that act of his, under those circumstances ought not, it seems to me, to be of any binding effect upon the defendant Sinclair. But having done so, and if it was the basis for any discussion that they had with respect to vital parts of the proposed contract; the contract itself, as the senator himself testified, involved an enormous transaction—t is an enormous transaction—t is an enormous transaction—t is an enormous transaction—to a modest judge down here who is not accustomed to dealing wifn such large matters—if, in producing that contract, Mr. Sinclair had a hand in saying what should be done, for instance, with respect to the proposed vendee, I think it would be relevant to the inquiry we are here making.

Littleton Outlines Stand.

Mr. Littleton Outlines Stand.

Mr. Littleton—The point I make is that the fact that the Government is seeking to prove the assumption of Senator Thomas as translated into the name of the vendee in the preliminary draft is, itself, evidence of the fact of what Senator Thomas thought up to that time and that to be argued as being his interpretation of the events up to that time, until the change was made in it. That is why I object to it. Whatever inquiry is made is based upon an assumption, after all. If the question were asked as to what happened in the conference, "After you had gone in there, did you show this draft to the people present, and did you read it to everybody present, and what happened in the conference?" I don't know that I would be in any position to object to it at all. But he should ask him what he put in the draft in that agreement, after he brought it in. That is the objectionable part of it. I contend it makes no difference what he put in before he brought it in. If he brought it in and read it to everybody, certainly the ground upon which I am now urging the objection would not be objectionable. But the point I make is that he be allowed to state that he reached an assumption of something, some name, which was afterward changed.

Objection is Sustained.

Objection is Sustained. The Court-Now, in view of this las contention of Mr. Littleton if, as a ence, Senator Thomas was directed by the principals there engaged to change the name that he put in to certain

Mr. Littleton—Then it ought not to be in the evidence.

Mr. Littleton—Then it ought not to be in the evidence.

Are Now Being Shown In Our Building his brother in Chicago was crocked, with the possible exception of clergymen.

For arresting an underling in a bootleg king's gang, and keeping him incarcerated against orders of the political ring, Capt. McQuigg is removed from a fancy berth in a downtown precinct to one of the outlying districts. The man behind the removal, a demotion, is Big Boy of the bootlegg fraternity, about to deliver the river wards to the electioneers. The first customer the captain gets in his new station house is a brother of the gangster-bootlegger, charged with stealing an automobile. He gets out, of course, but in coming to make sure of his brother's "safety" the bootlegking kills the cop who arrested the boy—and there you have a sample of what takes place in Mr. Carmack's play—and in a Chicago station house.

In its pristine glory, there is much that needs adjustment in the new play—and particularly in the first act; but, once under way, it has the faculty of holding attention—as do all these exposes of political machines and various other machinations among the wicked, the wise, and the wet. Since all of the action takes place in a police station—first in the central room, where the desk sergeant sits, and later in the captain's office—Carmack has reveled in realism. As any old police reporter will vouch, he knows his police environs.

porter will vouch, he knows his police environs.

The producers have rounded up a cast worthy of the play; policemen who are policemen, police reporters who run true to form. So the piece rings true. Aside from the heavies, the outstanding characterization is that of a cub reporter played by Norman Foster. It is one of the fine bits of the year.

Romaine Callander, after his triumphs with the National Theater Players, comes back again with "The Racket," playing to perfection the part of an assistant district attorney; politically corrupt, afraid of his shadow. The only woman in the cast is Marion Coakley, a hard-boiled little sister who knows all there is to know—even in on a Chicago sheet—they call them rags out there—it was natural for 3art—lett Cormack to turn out drama from the Illy field he knows best. So "The Racket" comes to take its place. In the rank of reportorial drama. t was presented for the .irst time or any stage last night in the BcL.soo.

Since reporters will be reporters, this new form o. playwriting is fast becoming somewhat similar to the old front page stuff o' years ago, with plays, like newspapers, in a neck-breaking race for sensation. Murder, hijacking, and what not have had their day in the press. Now comes 't.e stage. Young Cormack steps off with a highly seasoned story of political corruption in a city he liken to a butcher shop; there are so many murders. This time, is injected a new no' in the theater. The stalwart upholder of law in this c'ama c' intrigue and gunmen is a captain of police—and the world at large had thought that everybody and his brother in Chicago was crocked, with the possible exception of clergymen.

Bank Clearings Jump.

That the quiet of July, August and September has been put behind is indicated by the total of bank clearings in October which totaled $116,851,-574.11, a jump of $12,272,423.38 over September and the greatest October fotal, with the exception of the corresponding month last year, in the history of Washington banks. If bank clearings are, as many hold, a barometer of local business conditions, then the month ended yesterday was not a productive as October, 1926, the clearing statement at that time showing a total of $119,532,324.10, which was $2,681,104.99 more in canceled checks than passed through the clearing house last month.

While each of the totals in the five months ended October 31, 1927, have been somewhat under the clearings for the corresponding five months last year, the gains for the first ten months which total $1,148,051,940.12, are $800,240.37 ahead of the ten months in 1926, as compiled by C. E. Bright, manager of the Washington Clearing House Association, follow: Bank Clearings Jump.

A letter from Mr. Henry L. Doherty, President of Empire Gas and Fuel Company, is summarized by him as follows: Business and Property: The Empire Gas and Fuel Company owns all the capital stocks, except Directors' qualifying shares, of Cities Service Gas Company and Empire Oil and Refining Company, and 68% of the Capital Stock of Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company. These properties comprise one of the most important systems in the United States in the production, transportation, refining and marketing of crude oil and its products, as well as in the transportation of natural gas. Subsidiaries own over 900 miles of oil pipeline, and 3,500 oil wells, the gross production of which, during the first six months of 1927, averaged 61,200 barrels of crude oil daily. Four refineries and 20 absorption and compression gasoline plants are owned and operated. Over 500 tank and gasoline service stations, located in 12 states, are owned and distribute petroleum products. Cities Service Gas Company handles an average of more than 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, and through 2,200 miles of pipeline, supplies gas at wholesale to local companies serving over 135 cities and communities in Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, the territory served having a population of approximately 1,300,000.

of approximately 1,300,000. Earnings: Consolidated earnings of the Company, as now constituted, for the two years ended June 30, 1926 and 1927, as certified by independent auditors, and for the year ended August 31, 1927, as reported by the Company, were Year Ended June 30, 1926 1927 Year Ended August 31, 1927

Of the total amount of Preferred Stock issued, $1,000,000 is being purchased from the Company to finance the cost of new acquisitions. About $140,000 is being punchased from stockholders and the balance is being setzined by existing stockholders as an investment.

Mr. Arthur S. Bird, President of Bird Grocery Shores, Inc., has summarized his letter desired October 17, 1927, as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: Bird Grocery Stores, Inc., a Delaware corporation, which owns and operates the business of the Piggly Wiggly store chain in Kansas City, Missouri, and vicinity, has acquired the assets and businesses of the following Piggly Wiggly store chains: Piggly Wiggly Nebraska Company (of Lincoln, Neb.), and the Fort Worth, Little Rock and Omaha units of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Incorporated. The Fort Worth unit was acquired by a whollyowned subsidiary. The five systems so-united comprise 157 grocery stores, of which 135 include meat markets, 5 warehouses and one bakery.

The buying power resulting from the merger of these units will enable our stores to obtain merchandise under conditions that provide larger margins of profit than otherwise would be possible. All sales are made on a strictly cash basis.

EARNINGS: Net sales and net profits for the three years and six months ended June 30, 1927, after depreciation and Federal Taxes at present rates, and after eliminating charges which will be non-recurring upon completion of present financing (amounting to $37,757.38 in 1924; $38,520.25 in 1925; $62,792.43 in 1926; and $37,470.47 in the six mouths ended June 30, 1927), as certified by Messrs. Feat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., are as follows:

COMMON STOCK PURCHASE WARRANTS: With each share of Preferred Stock there will be delivered a Stock Purchase Warrant entitling the holder thereof to subscribe at any time on or before October 1, 1932, for two and one-half shares of Common Stock at the subscription price of $40 per share.

MANAGEMENT AND FUTURE: The management of Bird Grocery Stores, Inc. will be directed by me and my associates, all of us having been engaged for some years in the management of various Piggly Wiggly store units. We will own a substantial amount of the Preferred Stock and a majority of the Common Stock of the Company.

The territory which the combined system covers is particularly favorable for chain store operation of this type, and it is anticipated that our organization, considering the benefits which will accrue through the consolidation, will show material progress.

The statements contained above are obtained from sources which we believe reliable, but in no event are such statement to be regarded as representations by us.

Legal Proceedings are subject to the approval of Messrs. Chadbourne, Hunt, Jacckel & Brown, New York, for the Bankers, and Messrs. Hays, Hershfield & Wolf, New York, for the Company. Audits by Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., New York. We offer this stock "when, as and if issued and received by us," subject to allotment or prior sale, and subject to the approval of counsel. Interim Receipts or Temporary Certificates deliverable in the first instance.

A STATEMENT BY PACKARD

WE ARE appreciative of the fact that with the large increase in demand for the Packard car you may be under the impression that delivery cannot be made for several months. This is wrong.

During this year Packard has invested nearly ten million dollars in increased manufacturing facilities. This expenditure is now bearing fruit in increased production, and today we can offer reasonable dates of delivery on nearly all types and practically immediate delivery on the Packard Six five passenger sedan.

Why not buy a Packard Six today, pay for it within a year, as many prefer to do, and then keep it five or more years as does the average owner? If your present car is of average value it will more than make the new car down payment and leave no cash outlay except for the small monthly notes.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Oct. 31.—The final day of the month on the New York Stock Exchange saw a sharp turning of the trend of stock prices and in consequence substantial gains were the rule, in contrast with the daily string of sizeable losses that predominated last week. Although such news as developed over the week-end shed no new light on the outside situation, it was apparent the market had been placed in a much improved technical position as a result of the recent shaking out of weak holdings and the increased activity of speculators working for further reaction.

Scant attention was given the fixing of the cell loan reasewal as the market and been placed in a much improved technical position as a result of the recent shaking out of weak holdings and the increased activity of speculators working for further reaction.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER. EW YORK, Oct. 31.—There is still some doubt as to whether the apparition recently observed in Appartiton recently observed in the halls of Madison Square Garden, headquarters of Mr. Tex Rickard's celebrated cultural uplift and civic regeneration enterprises, is the spirit of uplift or the sordid specter of commercialism. Persons well acquainted with the sordid specter who saw the apparition at the Garden this afternoon state that it is the same specter that frequents the baseball councils and some of the tennis tournaments. Mr. Rickard, himself, however, insists that it is the true spirit of uplift.

Returning from a vacation at Hot Springs, Va., today, Mr. Rickard took rts that have been current for up reports that have been current for the last two weeks regarding some sort of disagreement in his firm over a matter of vulgar finance.

"Have you been fired out of the Garden firm?" was the first tactful question put to him.

EW YORK, Oct. 31 (A.P.).—The possibility that Jack Dempsey would seek the heavyweight crown of Gene Tunney next July appeared today, as the former king of the pugliistic realm held a lengthy conference with Tex Rickard in Madison Square Garden.

four intersectional clashes.

Harvard's squad, which has been going through much hard work for the

"If I owe Kearns anything, I have the money to pay him and I will. It is just a matter of a contract which he believes he has and I believe he hasn't. There is absolutely no possibility of either a settlement or reconcillation. That part of it, at least, was settled long ago."

Dempsey, apparently in splendid health, said that Leo P. Flynn, his adviser during the recent comeback campaign, probably would handle his affairs again in the event of a new assault on Tunney's title. There could be no need of a decision in that matter, Dempsey said, until a return to the rive, had been decided upon defi of the professional golfers' tournament here today.

EDAR CREST Country Club, Dallas, Tex., Oct. 31 (A.P.).—Stroking a sparkling 69, 2 under par, in his afternoon round for a day's total of 141, Walter Hagen, four times professional golf champion of the United States, took the lead over a field of 65 professionals in the qualifying round of the professional golfers' tournament here today.

Hagen's score was three strokes better than any of his strongest competitors, Albert Alcroft, of Youngstown, Ohio; Joe Turnesa and Gene Sarazen, of New York, all of whom finished with 144's. Al Espinosa, of Chicago, was two strokes behind them, with 146.

Par's resistance on the course was demonstrated last week when only five players broke into that class during the practice rounds last week. Sarazen was the leader of this group, holding a 68 and a 70.

Johnny Farrell, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., tied Espinosa at 146, and Harry Cooper, of Los Angeles; Francis Gallet, of Wauwautosa, Wis., and Jack Farrell, of New York, scored 147's.

After them the field strung out until six players tied at 154 for the last five places in tournament play. Because darkness was falling over the course, it was necessary to postpone the play-off until tomorrow.

Hagen scored his brilliant total after he had had some tough luck in a trap on the first nine of the morning round and gone 2 over par. He was by far the steadlest man on the course, however, and came home in I under par, ever, and came home in 1 under par, to give him a 72 for the morning. In the afternoon he assaulted the first nine again and scored two birdles for a 33, 2 under par. The last nine he negotiated in a par 36. John Perelli, of Feather River Inn.

John Perelli, of Feather River Inn, Calif., gave the gallery one of its biggest thrills when he negotiated his morning trip out in 33 and came back in 38 for a par 71. Perelli is 20 years old and is playing in his first big tournament. He attracted a gallery in the afternoon, but needed a 44 on the first nine. He shot a par 36 on the final nine for an aggregate of 151 and a place among the qualifiers.

Harry Hampton, of Memphis, was the only one among the leading favorites to fail to qualify. Hampton's putts played him false all day and he was forced to take an 80 and a 78, for an aggregate of 158.

Friends of Tommy Armour, the ope champion, almost gave him up when took a 77 in the morning and there he took a 77 in the morning and then started poorly in the afternoon, but he shot a 75 to get under the wire with 2 strokes to spare.

OLLYER'S COMMENT ON LINE SPORT OF KINGS

POLYGAMIA. Here's a filly that was worked by lantern light at Latonia the other morning and I have it on excellent authority that one of the biggest killings of the season here is on tap. Goes in the opening spasm. HATS UP and DRY NATION for what is left.

DRY NATION for what is left.

PATSY H, backed for a good thing the other day and failed, should be given another chance in the second. EDITH ALICE'S last effort was impressive GLEE, from the H. P. Whitney barn, has an outside chance. Bob Rodger has MISS MEISE stripped for action in the third. UNCLE AL appears to be the dangerous one, with CLEARING a close-up

N. Camden's CANBERRA was tossed into a J. N. Camden's CANBERRA was tossed into a soft spot in the fourth. At the weights, she should have little trouble in beating COLOR BLIND and

The same stable has NOR'EASTER and ROTH-

The same stal

ERMEL in the fifth and it is my firm conviction that they will finish onetwo. FRESCO may split the pair if any one does. FAIRY MAN gets the call in the sixth. The McGee trick was a trifle short the other day when Malvina B. nailed it on the post. NICK CULLOP, a 2-year-old, is bound to run well. TANNIC, a little whale out East, is ready to show smart improvement.

ADELE W. has the speed of the party in the seventh and needs only to be fit to bring home the bacon. STARS AND STRIPES' last effort was a humdinger. KIYI has an outside chance under a vigorous ride.

The $25,000 Riggs handicap is the piece de resistance at Pimlico, which opens this aft. I'm going to string with the Three D's Stable's HANDY
MANDY. She is on rare form again and the distance and weight suit her down to the ground.

Many Court Vets Back at Eastern

When the Eastern High School basketball squad is called out the latter part of this month, Coach Guyon will find practically every member of his 1926 squad on hand. In addition, the team will be strengthened by the presence of Lynch, a star forward of the last year's Augusta Military Academy Team. Lynch, who is a junior, entered Eastern this fall.

The members of the Eastern squad who will return are Capt.-elect Depro. Doerr. Essex, Faber, Shapiro, Capelli, Hogarth, Bushong and Hoffman.

Rushee, a long shot, M. Meyer up, accounted for the third, at a mile and a sixteenth. He broke on top, holding that position throughout and winning over Miss Chiniquy by a nose. Jack Horgan was third. The winner paid $159.66 for each $2 parl-mutuel certificate.

The winner paid $159.66 for each $2 parl-mutuel certificate.

Irish Pal, Philpot aboard, galloped to an easy victory in the fourth. George Groom was second with May Cooper third. The winner got away to an early lead, setting a fast pace, and managed to keep that position throughout.

Erin's Bride won the opening race by two lengths. She took the lead on the far turn and came on to win handily by two lengths. Under a good ride by Jockey Philpot. Prince Pan finished second, and Successor saved the show money. Brown Rock tired and dropped out of it after setting the early pace.

The second race brought together an assorted field of maidens of all ages. Fiala, a filly from the barn of Alderman J. J. Coughlin, proved much the best, taking the lead quickly after as slow start and leading all the rest of the way, to win by two lengths from Paprika, another 2-year-old. Bim, a 5-year-old, ran third. Fiala was ridden by Jockey Walters.

A RLINGTON PARK, Chicago, Oct.

31 (A.P.).—The weather continued ideal for racing and brought out a record-breaking week-day crowd of 18,000 to witness the final racing of the season in the Chicago district.

The fifth and feature event on the program, the American National Endurance Handicap, $5,000 added, for 3-year-olds and upward over a mileand-a-quarter course, was won by F. M. Grabner's Chicago, with the veteran jockey, Earl Pool, in the saddle, The Durnell entry, Yeddo and Smiling Gus, finished second and third, respectively.

Chicago broke on top, but immediately dropped back to fifth place. Yeddo too't the lead and set a terrific pace to the stretch, where Chicago came up in his usual way, on the rail, to win by four lengths. The winner paid $3.92 for each $2 win ticket and his time was 2:03 3-5.

Rushee, a long shot, M. Meyer up.

Meehan is rated as the tallesi center in the game, a crackerjack man at getting the ball on the tap-off, while Riconda is considered one of the smartest pro basketers, and Cooney is often called the little player" in the game.

Eagle Juniors Down

Collegian Eleven, 37-0 Anacostia Eagle Juniors overwhelmed the Collegian Eleven, scoring a 37 to 0 win. Greer and Green, Eagle backs, starred with two touchdowns each. Brown was best for the losers.

POLYGAMIA. Here's a filly that was worked by lantern light at Latonia the other morning and I have it on excellent authority that one of the biggest killings of the season here is on tap. Goes in the opening spasm. HATS UP and DRY NATION for what is left.

PATSY H, backed for a good thing the other day and failed, should be given another chance in the second. EDITH ALICE'S last effort was impressive GLEE, from the H. P. Whitney barn, has an outside chance. Bob Rodger has MISS MEISE stripped for action in the third. UNCLE AL appears to be the dangerous one, with CLEARING a close-up third.

J. N. Camden's CANBERRA was tossed into a soft spot in the fourth. At the weights, she should have little trouble in beating COLOR BLIND and SWEET WAY.

The same stable has NOR'EASTER and ROTH-

TRACKMEN'S SELECTIONS

ERMEL in the fifth and it is my firm conviction that they will finish one-two. FRESCO may split the pair if any one does. FAIRY MAN gets the call in the sixth. The McGee trick was a trifle short the other day when Malvina B. nailed it on the post. NICK CULLOP, a 2-year-old, is bound to run well. TANNIC, s little whale out East, is ready to show smart improvement.

ADELE W. has the speed of the party in the seventh and needs only to be fit to bring home the bacon. STARS AND STRIPES last effort was a humdinger. KIVI has an outside chance under a vigorous ride.

GALES WINS AT DODGE BALL. Gales with AT DODGE Ball.
Gales School won the feature match in the Elementary School Dodgeball Lesgue from the Ludlow Team yesterday, 19 to 9. The match which was played at Plam Playground was closer than the score indicates and both teams played fast games.
The two teams are leading in the Plaza Playground division of the league as each has sustained one loss. Ludlow's initial defeat came yesterday and Gales has bowed to the Carberry School

the new Government financing, announcement of which is expected late this week, may bear a rate as low as 3 per cent was the principal factor in attempthening the Tressury issues, all of which attained new peak prices for the year.

The softness of investment, railway and industrial liens was largely in further reflection of the unprecedented aggragate of new offerings in October, a considerable portion of which is still unsold. Among the new issues expected on the market shortly is one of $24,000,000 Penn Central Light & Power 4½s. Maturities in November will total nearly $50,000,000, of which approximately $45,000,000 is in foreign obligations. The largest single retirement will be an issue of $29,068,400 Canadian 5½s.

Such railroad mortgages as Cheapsake Corporation & Eries and Rock Island 4½s, which have been under accumulation for several weeks relinquished their leadership for the time being. Atchison 4½s, on the other hand, sold at the highest price of the year, and some of the low-priced St. Paul issues were firm.

Unusually heavy offerings of North American Edison & were absorbed at a small fraction under yesterday's close. Utility liens, otherwise, were dull. White Sewing Machine & lost a point, but Pressed Steel Car & were fairly well supported.

French, Italian and Australian bonds were in free supply and a rather heavy tone characterised other divisions of the foreign list.

New issues expected on the market soon include $45,000,000 Cities Service Power & Light Co. 5½s.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 31 (A.P.)—Curb ocks today failed to establish any finite price trend. Strength and tivity of a number of issues in the orning faded out around noon, and lotations became listless and irraguer. Even those stocks which moved or a wide range last week were liggish and dull.

Among the issues making the best owing were American Rolling Mills of Industrial Rayon, both of which Petroleum issues were firm, Penn-Mex Puel standing out with a gain of 1½, to 31½, a new high for the year. Reo Motors continued last week's steady decline, and Palmolive Peet, U. S. L. Battery, Gobel, Spanish River Pulp & Paper and St. Regis Paper were under pressure.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Cot. 81 (A.P.).—Confronted by announcement of 3.288,000 bushel increase of the United States visible supply, wheat values weakened at the last today under general profit-taking sales. Earlier the market had scored a sliary advance largely because of further reports of frost in Argentins.
Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, % to % cent net lower; corn. % to 1% cent up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 50 cents.

U. S. TREASURY ISSUES AT YEAR'S NEW PEAKS

High Grade Corporation Bonds, on Other Hand, Tend to Ease Off.

FOREIGNS RATHER HEAVY

New York, Oct. 31 (A.P.).—The bond market presented something of a paradox today when the firmness of United States Treasury issues, usually a re-liable barometer of price trends, contrasted sharply with easing tendencies among the high grade corporation liens. Undoubtedly predictions that the new Government financing, announcement of which is expected late this week, may bear a rate as low as 3 per cent was the principal factor in strengthening the Treasury issues, all of which attained new peak prices for the year.

strengthening the Treasury issues, all of which attained new peak prices for the year.

The softness of investment, railway and industrial liens, was largely in further reflection of the unprecedented aggregate of new offerings in October, a considerable portion of which is still unsold. Among the new issues expected on the market shortly is one of $24,000,000 Penn Central Light & Power 4½s. Maturities in November will total nearly $80,000,000, of which approximately $45,000,000 is in foreign obligations. The largest single retirement will be an issue of $29,068,400 Canadian 5½s.

Such railroad mortgages as Chesapeake Corporation 5s, Erie 5s and Rock. Island 4½s, which have been under accumulation for several weeks relinquished their leadership for the time being. Atchison 4½s, on the other hand, sold at the highest price of the year, and some of the low-priced St. Paul issues were firm.

Unusually heavy offeringr of North American Edison 5s were absorbed at a small fraction under yesterday's close. Utility liens, otherwise, were fairly well supported.

French, Italian and Australian bonds were in free supply and a rather heavy tone characterized other divisions of the foreign list.

New issues expected on the market soon include $45,000,000 Cities Service Power & Light Co. 5½s.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 31 (A.P.).—Curb stocks today failed to establish any definite price trend. Strength and activity of a number of issues in the morning faded out around noon, and quotations became listless and irregular. Even those stocks which moved over 'a wide range last week were sluggish and dull.

Among the issues making the best showing were American Rolling Mills and Industrial Rayon, both of which sold at their best prices of the year. Celluloid advanced about 2 points in the morning, but Celanese was weak. Some of the chain store issues reflected fair demand, Niesner Brothers, Metropolitan and W. T. Grant moving up a point or more.

Some of the public utilities were politan and W. T. Grant moving up a point or more.

Some of the public utilities were moderately active. New peaks for the year were marked up by Eastern States Power "B," National Public Service "B" and Ohio Public Service "A." Petroleum issues were firm, Penn-Mex Fuel standing out with a gain of 1½, to 3½, a new high for the year. Reo Motors continued last week's steady decline, and Palmolive Peet, U. S. L. Battery, Gobel, Spanish River Pulp & Paper and St. Regls Paper were under pressure.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 31 (A.P.).—Confronted by announcement of 3,288,000 bushel increase of the United States visible supply, wheat values weakened at the last today under general profit-taking sales. Earlier the market had scored a sharp advance largely because of further reports of frost in Argentina. Closing quotations on wheat were rervous, % to % cent net lower; corn. % to 1% cent off; oats, % to % cent off oats, by to % cent off; oats, by to % cent off; oats, by to % cent off; oats, by to % cent off, ce

Ing of domestic wheat visible supply figures today, it was pointed out that the total is now 88,290,000 bushels against 72,034,000 bushels a year ago. On the other hand, unusual sensitiveness to southern hemisphere weather and crop reports today appeared to be partly due to word that the Premier of New South Wales, Australia, anticipates a yield of only 14,000,000 bushels in his territory, compared with 37,000,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn prices acted heavy most of the day. Frost shown at some points was regarded as beneficial, and the corn visible supply increased 1,965,000 bushels. Eastern shipping demand was alow. Oats reacted with corn.

Provisions were easier on account of seatered seiling, which more than offset an advance in the value of hogs.

Much of the gold in the United States is owned by foreign countries and their power to withdraw it limits this country's excess reserves, it is pointed out by Dr. Henry A. E. Chandler, economist, National Bank of Commerce, in New York. In the form of balances and short-term investments, the outside world has a huge claim against us in excess of our claim against the rest of the world on the same account, he says.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 31 (A.P.).—An early advance in the cotton market today was followed by a reaction, which earried the price of January contracts of from 20.83 to 20.20. That delivery closed at 20.26, compared with 20.33 at the close of Saturday, the general market closing steady, at net declines of 6 to 14 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 16 to 20 points on covering, combined with trade buying believed to be partly for foreign account, and local or commission house buying stimulated by relatively steady Liverpool cables and an unfavorable view of weather conditions in the South. This absorbed considerable realizing and a little Southern selling on an advance which carried prices up to 20.55 for about 25 to 28 points above Saturday/aclosing quotations.

Demand then seemed to taper off as if the bulk of the buying had represented covering of shorts, and failure of the market to attract more general support, appeared to disappoint early buyers, or other holders of contracts, Realizing developed and in late trading, a little more Southern selling was reported, while there was reselling by early buyers.

December declined to 20.10 and March to 20.32, or about 17 to 20 points net lower, and 43 to 45 points from the high prices of the morning. Closing quotations were 6 to 12 points up from the lowest on renewed covering.

A private crop report placed to make to other the month of the months.

TEXT OF WILSON'S TRACTION PLAN

Following is the text of the street rails and bus merger plan submitted to the Public Utilities Commission by H. P. Wilson:

As you are aware, I have been actively engaged for some months in an effort to work out a plan for the unification of the street railway lines and bus lines in the District of Columbia. It is a complex problem in the major provided in cash the total sum of the unification of many factors and the major problems have found solution and that the plan is in sufficiently definite-shape to enable me to submit its principal features to the commission. I would have preferred not to write you about this matter until certain minor questions have been definitely resolved, but in view of the wide-spread public interest in the matter and the misunderstanding that may arise out of reports about the plan, which are not always accurate, I have decided to submit to you now the general outlines of what I propose.

The plan contemplates:

1. The consolidation of the transit properties of the Capital Traction properties, the consolidation there was a condition of the transit properties of the Capital Traction valuation, as already decided to submit to you now the general outlines of what I propose.

The plan is to take for a typical year, earnings of the transit properties of the two street railway companies before interest and depreciation, add thereto the saving in operating costs, which will result from unified and residured coemities and more efficient of the saving the savin which will result from unified and readjusted operation and more efficient service, estimated by competent engineers at a minimum of $1,000,000 per annum, and to take into account inmunity of the new company from the expense of special crossing policemen and street paving, which was suggested by the District in merger plans previously considered.

Entitled to $3,689,000 Yearly

The resulting estimate earnings of more than $3,500,000 per annum capitalized at the fair return of 7 per gent establishes a rate base of $50,000,000 to which is added the new cash capital hereinbefore specified, of $2,700,000, making an aggregate rate base of $52,700,000 at the beginning of operation of the consolidated Company. On this basis the owners will be entitled to an annual return of $3,689,000 per annum. a way by which its eco The difference between this figure and the $3,500,000 mentioned above is more than made up by the adjust ment of maintenance items mentioned ment-of maintenance items mentioned below. It will be noted that the said rate base of $52,700,000 is less by $12,500,000 to $15,000,000 than the rate base already established by the District Court of Appeals in the Capital Trac-tion case and the probable results in the Washington Railway & Electric case. I am convinced from my careful

I am convinced from my careful studies of the problem, and from the reports of eminent engineers who have made a thorough investigation of it, that this amount can be earned annually by the unified company under the plan proposed, without increase in present rates of fare. My plan provides that there shall be no change in said rates for a period of twelve months after the date of the consolidation, in order that the physical and other changes necessary to realize benefits can be effected.

Long-Term Power Contract. Long-Term Power Contract.

It is proposed that the Washington Railway & Electric Co. shall cause the Potomac Electric Power Co. to enter into a long-term power contract with the consolidated company (which may include a lease by the Potomac Co. of the power properties, appurtenant to the transit properties, acquired by the consolidated company) on such terms that the net cost of power to the consolidated company (after crediting solidated company) (after crediting that the net cost of power to the consolidated company (after crediting any rental payable to the consolidated company for its power properties) shall not exceed but be substantially less than the present aggregate cost of power to the Capital Traction Co. and the transit operations of the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

The cost of maintenance and of depreciation (retirement reserve) are definitely related. The operating companies have in the past proceeded on somewhat different theories with respect to accounting for maintenance and depreciation. With the definite fixing of a rate base at $52,700,000 and the adoption of a uniform sinking fund the adoption of a uniform sinking fund fixing of a rate base at $52,700,000 and the adoption of a uniform sinking fund method for accruing retirement reserve, it is obvious that the combined maintenance expense of the companies, heretofore necessarily including some retirement costs, will be decreased and that the operating income of the new company as compared with the joint operating income of the present companies will be materially increased.

At this point it is important to emphasize that one of the principal features of an effective unification plan should be to grant to an appropriate public authority, with the assent of the owners of the properties, power to rearrange the tracks and transit facilities in the public interest. Your commission is, of course, aware of the litigation that will inevitably follow any attempt to force changes in the tracks and routes of the street railway systems, which the owners of the properties may regard as injurious to their rights.

Benefit by Higher Values.

It should be emphasized that under bistrict of columbia will receive the benefit of all future increases in value of the consolidated transit properties, which will result inevitably from the growth and development of Washington and its environs. The plan is matter what may be the increase in the future value thereof, will be entitled to receive only the fair return on value established by the consolidation and future capital expenditures.

Moreover, increased revenues which will come from improvement of service will inure to the advantages of the people by permitting, as indicated, reductions in fares or by deposit in the Treasury of the District of Columbia, or for the other purposes above outlined.

I am still at work on certain features of the plan here generally outlined, as well as upon other details not included, and, therefore, I must reserve complete freedom to change it in any respect before I finally submit it to the commission in order that the customary public hearing may be held.

In conclusion, permit me to say that my primary purpose in devising this plan is to promote the public interest and to assure to the Capital of the Nation a transportation system not the Capital Traction Co. slightly more estimate of valuations places the Washington Railway & Electric Co.'s worth at about $10,000,000 more than that of the Capital Traction Co., as determined and to be determined by the courts.

No details are stated as to how stock of the new company shall be traded

Your commission is, of course, aware of the littingation that will inevitably follow any attempt to force changes in the tracks and routes of the street rallway systems, which the owners of the properties may regard as injurious to their rights.

Company Would Pay Trustees.

In order to accomplish this and the other objects indicated, my plan provides for the appointment by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia of three trustees, whose salaries and expenses shall be a charge against operating expenses of the consolidated company, and who shall be invested with power:

1. To determine the character, extent and cost of the service and facilities to be furnished to the public.

2. To regulate and fix, from time to time, rates of fare.

3. To direct the removal or rearrangement of tracks, construction of extensions, betterments and improvements, development of the facilitie—and service of the compail in such manner as will adequately meet the transportation needs of the District of Columbia, and harmonize with the plans which may be adopted from time to time, under public authority, for new streets and reries and for the economic and exteries and for the conomic and exteries and for the economic and exteries and for the e

The Philippine statesman was greeted by a score of his countrymen when he arrived at 4:20 p. nt. His clothes remind one of Mayor "Jimmy" Walker of New York, as does his breezy manner of talking. He was attired in a light suit and overcoat, wore his hat jauntily on his head and carried a smart-looking cane.

Senator Sergio Osmena, speaker of the house in the Philippines, was scheduled to come here with Quezon, but on his arrival in New York, he learned that his son, Jesus Osmena, a student at Cornell University, was gravely ill in a Syracuse hospital, and he hastened there to see him.

When Quezon was asked the purpose of his visit here, he laughingly replied that it was a desire to enjoy the beauties of Washington. He is no stranger to the Capital, having once served as resident commisioner here.

ranting independence to the Philippine Islands.

In an interview at Union Station, Quezon said that, "generally speaking," he was opposed to the appointment of a military man as governor general of the Islands, to succeed the late Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood. He added, however, that there are some military men who might be acceptable.

The District Commissioners were sued yesterday in the Municipal Court by 414 public school teachers, who seek to recover more than $250,000 which they allege is due by reason of the Islands, to succeed the late Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood. He added, however, that there are some military men who might be acceptable.

These District Commissioners were sued yesterday in the Municipal Court by 414 public school teachers, who seek to recover more than $250,000 which they allege is due by reason of the Islands, to succeed the late Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood. He added, however, that there are some military men who might be acceptable.

the cost of filing these suits amounted to 83,739.

These cases have had the attention of J. Raymond McCarl, Comptroller General, who dismissed them on the theory that he was concerned with overpayments by the Government and not underpayments.

The teachers contend they have been refused proper ratings. The schedules for the ratings were prepared originally by Maj. R. O. Wilmarth, and were revised by Maj. Daniel J. Donovan. It appears the teachers are opposed to the revisions which Maj. Donovan refused to reconsider. The cases then went to Comptroller McCarl, who also refused to grant the teachers relief.

There are five test cases of this sort already pending in the Municipal Court and it is expected that the outcome of these will affect the 414 cases which were filed yesterday. One test case was filed in the Circuit Court, and that tribunal decided that the Commissioners, while they had no control over the Board of Education, were responsible for the board's funds. The five cases will be heard November 11. Attorney Paul E. Lesh appeared for the 414 teachers.
